BRYAN COLLEGE / Dayton, Tennessee / Volume 39

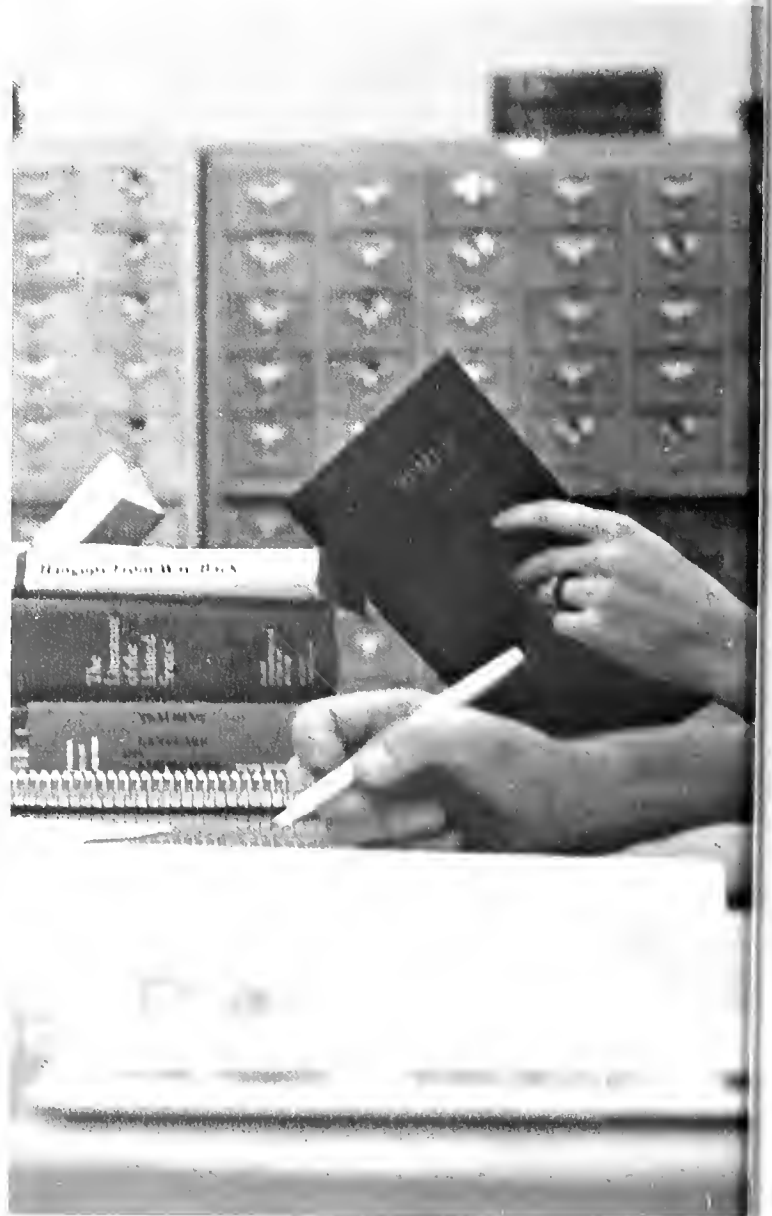

Each day began with an outstretched arm, a personal symbol of our collective decision to overcome the inertia of sleep, to reach out and interact with ideas and individuals outside of ourselves.

We reached out to grasp knowledge of men and concepts that were new to us; we stretched our minds. Pavlov, Cezanne, Pasteur, Napoleon, Ibsen, differential equations, twelve-tone music, behaviorism, preferred stocks, logical positivism — all these became part of our experience. We learned that we are not truly educated until we have related each academic discipline to God's truth as revealed in the Bible.

We reached out for deeper aesthetic understanding. We found enjoyment, fulfillment in music, drama, painting, and other arts. As created individuals we felt the urge to create and to share in the creations of others.

We reached out to the people around us; we felt the need to belong. We learned to relax, to accept, to love through genuine friendships solidified by our common experiences, problems, and goals.

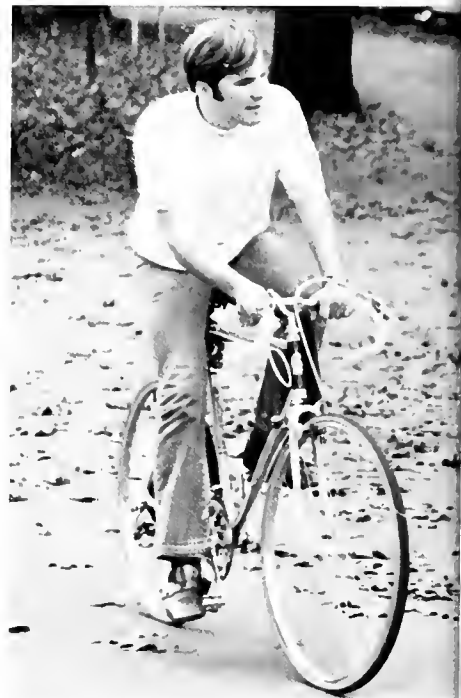

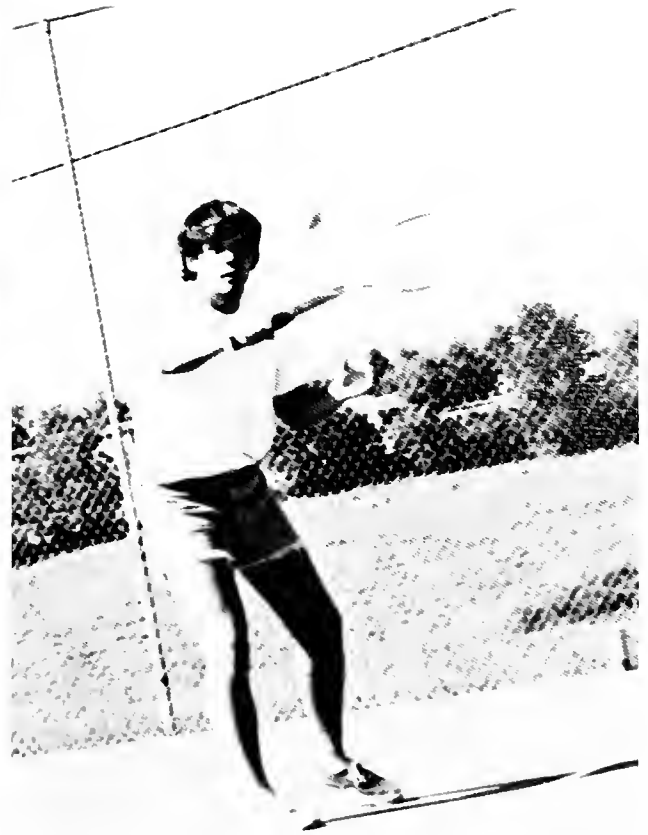

We reached out with our bodies in contests of skill and endurance and in games of recreation and invigoration. We were determined to grow physically as well as mentally — and to honor our school as well as ourselves in our accomplishments.

The central figure of all our reaching out, the One through whom God communicated His love to us, was Jesus Christ. It was because of our personal commitments to Him that we were motivated to develop our minds, our bodies, our personalities, and our spirits to the greatest possible extent — and to reach out in showing God's love to others.

In the extended arm is epitomized all our efforts of reaching out in the 1972-73 school year, of which this book is the official record.

New Calendar Brings Early Return

A long-awaited calendar change brought a record enrollment of five hundred students to the campus during the last week of August, three weeks earlier than usual. Welcomed by cheerful senate members, new students soon found themselves immersed in a tiring schedule of orientation, directed by "Colonel" Zopfi, and testing, administered by Mrs. Sheddan and her assistants. The long lines and multiple forms of registration presented a final hurdle before the beginning of classes.

Dr. Theodore C. Mercer
President

Mercer and Bartlett Lead Administration

Dr. Theodore C. Mercer, in his seventeenth year as president of Bryan, kept very busy with his responsibilities of the overall direction of the school. Both he and Dr. John Bartlett, recently named vice-president, were vitally concerned with preparations for the Southern Association visitation committee. Two new administrators this year were Mr. Kermit Zopfi, who faced his difficult job as Dean of Students with genuine concern and wisdom, and Mr. Charles Robinson, who filled the new position of Assistant Director of Public Relations.

Dr. John B. Bartlett
Vice-President and Academic Dean

Mr. Kermit Zopfi

Trustees Consider New Dorm

Sixteen members of the Board of Trustees met on October 2 for their annual fall session. Among the board's decisions were the approval of specifications and fundraising plans for the Rudd Memorial Chapel and investigation into the building of a new men's dormitory to be occupied by the fall of 1974. For purposes of planning, the trustees voted to limit the full-time enrollment of the college to eight hundred. Dr. Wesley McKinney, in his fourth year as chairman of the board, welcomed three new trustees: Mrs. Cliff Barrows, Mr. William Hilleary, and Mr. Benjamin Purser.

UPPER: Front row, left to right: Mr. James Barth, Mrs. Cliff Barrows, Miss Ruth Huston. Second row: Rev. Ian Hay, Mr. Albert Page, Mr. Morris Brodsky, Dr. Wesley McKinney. Third row: Dr. C. Markham Berry, Mr. C. P. Swafford, Mr. E. G. Robeson, Mr. William C. Hilleary, Rev. Mark Senter. Fourth row: Mr. Ben Purser, Dr. Karl Keefer, Mr. Lewis Llewellyn, Mr. Don Efird. LOWER LEFT: Trustees and administrators meet in the main lounge. LOWER RIGHT: Mrs. Barrows enjoys her first board meeting.

Miss Virginia Seguine
Librarian

Mrs. Rebecca Van Meeveren
Assistant Librarian

Librarians Near Goal

Headed by Miss Virginia Seguine and aided by two full-time assistants and nine students, the library staff worked to improve their services this year. As they neared their goal of fifty thousand volumes, plans were made for enlarging the Tennessee history collection, acquiring more periodicals on microfilm, and expanding the ground floor facilities.

Mrs. Harriet Anderson
Library Assistant

Bible Division Presents Creation Lectures

The main event of the year for the Division of Biblical Studies and Philosophy was the third annual Staley Distinguished Christian Scholar Lecture Series, featuring Dr. John C. Whitcomb, Jr., and his understanding of Genesis and creation. Adding a new Christian service practicum course and assigning analytical charts and syn-topicons were familiar features of the division. Dr. Brian Richardson was new to the division; Mr. Kermit Zopfi and Mr. Robert Andrews assisted as part-time instructors.

Dr. John Anderson, Chairman
Professor of Ancient Languages

Dr. Brian Richardson
Associate Professor of Christian Education

Mr. Alan Winkler
Assistant Professor of Christian Education and Bible

Dr. Irving Jensen
Professor of Bible

Education Division Expands Curriculum

The Division of Education and Psychology expanded its curriculum to include a physical education minor and to offer courses in Chattanooga for the Public Resources Commission. A new program of conducting music and physical education classes at Dayton City School benefited some student teachers. Incoming division member Mr. John Reeser and part-time Mr. Donald Hill and Mrs. Mayme Sheddan strengthened the division.

Dr. Dale Carter, Chairman
Associate Professor of Education and Psychology

Mr. John Reeser
Assistant Professor of Health and Physical Education

Mr. Leo Horton
Assistant Professor of Education and Psychology

Mr. Wayne Dixon
Assistant Professor of Health
and Physical Education,
Director of Athletics

History, Business, and Social Sciences Division Hosts Reformation Lecturer

A peak of the year for the Division of History, Business, and Social Science was its lecture series on the Radical Reformation by Dr. Robert Clouse, a Bryan graduate who teaches at Indiana State. Divisional faculty and students enjoyed debating election issues and viewing the last reels of Kenneth Clark's Civilisation films. Dr. Robert Jenkins, head of the business department, was a newcomer to the division.

Dr. H. Blair Bentley, Chairman
Professor of History

Dr. Robert Jenkins
Professor of Business

Dr. Robert Clouse, division lecturer, conducts a question-and-answer session.

Dr. Stephen Cobb
Associate Professor of History

Fine Arts Division Initiates Scholarship

The Division of Fine Arts sponsored a National Professional Photographers' exhibit, the annual spring Fine Arts Festival, and the presentation of the Messiah with stringed accompaniment. Division members financed a new $100 music scholarship, which was awarded to Mike Van Huisen. Mrs. Louise Bentley continued to divide her time between the English and fine arts departments.

Mr. William Boyd
Assistant Professor of Music

Mrs. Mary Holt
Assistant Professor of Music

Mrs. Ruth Bartlett
Assistant Professor of Music

Dr. J. James Creasby, Chairman
Professor of Music

Mr. Wayne Hook
Instructor in Art

Language Division Publishes Dandilines

A new linguistics course and a non-credit Russian class were unique offerings of the Division of Literature and Modern Languages. English class activities included viewing the film version of "The Lottery," attending Moliere's Tartuffe at UTK, and compiling a second edition of Dandilines, an anthology of Bryan student writings. Foreign language students enjoyed Christmas caroling in Spanish, French, and German. Joining the division this year were Miss Rachel Ross and Mr. Jerry Sawyer; Mr. Glen Turner assisted on a part-time basis.

Dr. Richard Cornelius, Chairman
Professor of English

Miss Rachel Ross
Assistant Professor of Speech

Mr. Jerry Sawyer
Assistant Professor of English

Mr. Glen Liebig
Assistant Professor of Spanish

Mrs. Louise Bentley
Assistant Professor of English and Fine Arts

Mr. Joseph Overholt
Assistant Professor of Modern Languages

Science Division Debates The Darwin Adventure

Members of the Division of Natural Sciences received national coverage in Life magazine for their challenge to the evolutionary theory presented in the world premiere of The Darwin Adventure in Dayton. Students in the division researched the effects of alcohol and amphetamines on white rats and analyzed the quality of local bodies of water.

Dr. Willard Henning, Chairman
Professor of Biology

Dr. Henning and Dr. Francis Darwin chat in the lobby.

Dr. Richard Barnhart
Associate Professor of Mathematics

Mrs. Betty Giesemann
Instructor in Chemistry and Physics

Mr. Lloyd J. Matthes
Assistant Professor of Mathematics

Mr. Philip Ashworth
Assistant Professor of Biology

Pre-Christmas Exams Anticipate Busy Second Semester

Typing term papers, completing projects, and taking final exams were part of the mad rush of finishing first semester before Christmas for the first time. Refreshed by the long holiday, a slightly-diminished student body returned to find slow progress on the ground-floor renovations and changes in teaching assignments for second semester. A main project of the administration was completion of the institutional self-study report in preparation for the arrival of the Southern Association visitation committee on April 1.

Largest Class Graduates

Commencement exercises honored more than one hundred members of the Class of '73, the largest in the history of the college. Rev. Everett Kier, father of the class president, delivered the Baccalaureate sermon, and for the first time several seniors were graduation speakers.

Receptions Honor New Students

Among the receptions and parties honoring new students during their first week at Bryan were a Student Union-sponsored skit night, a party of games and songs at Rhea House, and the annual Dayton Ministerial Association Reception, held this year at the First Baptist Church.

Having awaited the almost legendary trauma of the President's Reception since the beginning of school, the blind-dating new students bravely faced the upper-classmen's toilet paper tunnel and a seemingly endless line of extended hands. Juggling their punch cups in the library reading room, the uneasy honorees became delegates to a political convention assembled to ratify the Bryan College platform presented by their hosts.

Senate Initiates Freshman Activities

The new Student Senate initiated activities designed to draw the freshmen together as a class, help new students meet returning students, and improve school spirit. Although senior girls defeated their freshmen counterparts in a volleyball match of two out of three games, the freshmen guys beat the upperclassmen in a flag football game. The last and most successful of the new activities was the kangaroo court with Herr Zopfi presiding as judge. Unsuspecting students, summoned to appear before the jury, were quickly convicted and sentenced to perform comical stunts.

UPPER: Freshman Lucy Lieb misses the ball in a volleyball battle with the seniors. MIDDLE: Kathy Ballard reads "How Do I Love Thee?" to a bust of William Jennings Bryan. LOWER: Roy Smith serves as a wheelbarrow for Carol McKemy and Connie Peacock while Mr. Zopfi and his rigged jury laugh.

Freshmen Present Talent Night

The freshman class displayed many talents in "An Evening with Charlie Brown," during which each musical number, skit, or dramatic reading was introduced to the packed audience by a Peanuts character.

Students Enjoy Picnic at Fall Creek Falls

The all-college picnic brought physical relaxation and exhaustion within the wooded setting of Fall Creek Falls State Park. The invigorating morning of group games led by Mr. Zopfi and senate members ended with an unplanned water balloon barrage, which soaked many unsuspecting persons. After Dr. Bartlett's short devotional, the hungry picnickers lined up for Mr. Buff's barbecued chicken. Free-time afternoon activities included hiking to the bottom of the falls, swimming in the chilly water, and chatting leisurely on the thick green grass.

"Let the House Be Built" Is Homecoming Theme

One hundred alumni and thirty high school visitors crowded the campus for homecoming weekend festivities, which began with a musical program and two basketball games on Friday evening. Saturday's events included an alumni-senior brunch on Johnson's Bluff, a flag football game between seniors and alumni, and the erection of an inspiring seventy-five-foot cross, designed by art instructor Wayne Hook, for the Rudd Memorial Chapel. If funds for the chapel have been raised by next homecoming, ground breaking ceremonies will fulfill this year's theme of "Let the House Be Built."

Roz Fitzenreider Crowned Queen

Despite the enthusiastic crowd of alumni and students at Saturday afternoon's soccer game, the Bryan Lions fell to the Carson Newman Eagles by a score of five to three. The results of the float contest during half-time gave first place to the juniors for their lion that drooled eagle feathers and second to the sophomores for their box of "Crushed Eagles" cereal. Elected by the student body, Rozlind Fitzenreider became the 1972 Homecoming queen. That evening she and her court were honored at the annual homecoming banquet. Mrs. Walter Seera and Mr. and Mrs. Mercer Clementson were made honorary alumni, and Mr. Larry Fehl was named alumnus of the year. The concluding Sunday afternoon vespers service featured the choir in their first performance of the year.

Candidates Court Bryan Votes

Campaign '72 brought several prominent political figures to the campus. Following Gov. Winfield Dunn's interest-provoking nonpolitical visit, Republican and Democratic candidates for the state legislature, U. S. House of Representatives, and U. S. Senate spoke in chapel and fielded students' questions. Sparking much interest in the newly-enfranchised student body, Bryan's own Don Hill campaigned with the benefit of student volunteers and a radio ad sung by the Madrigals.

Student Union Plans Busy Fall

With the enthusiastic leadership of president Dale Wolfe and the record membership of three hundred students, Bryan's Student Union brightened fall social life with movies, concerts, and recreational activities. Crowding into Atlanta Stadium for a Braves' doubleheader, wearing hilarious get-ups for Hobo Day, getting lost in Grassy Cove Cave, and ice skating at midnight in Knoxville were some of the innovative events. Movies shown included Son of Flubber, His Land, and Sadie Hawkins Day's Shenandoah.

Student Union Sponsors Truth, Gene Cotton

December began with Student Union's presentation of Truth, an outstanding Christian rock group from Mobile, Alabama. Second semester's schedule included concerts by Gene Cotton and James Ward and a repetition of popular first-semester recreational events.

Snowy New Year Follows Christmas Celebrations

Carolling in foreign languages, hearing the Messiah, socializing at the Christmas Banquet, attending the Service of Lessons and Carols, and decorating dorm rooms were some of the activities of the Christmas season before students eagerly headed home for the holidays. The six-inch snow which welcomed them back for second semester provided rare opportunities for sledding, building snowmen, and having snowball fights.

Banquets Provide Social Outlet

Corsaged co-eds and their hungry escorts enjoyed delicious PFM dinners at six dress-up social events — the Homecoming, Thanksgiving, Christmas, Sweet-heart, and Athletic Banquets. Held at a surprise destination, the Junior-Senior Banquet provided a unique evening away from the campus.

Dorm Life Brings New Experiences

Adjusting to the dorm and a roommate, making new and lasting friends, and learning to be considerate and to have a sense of humor were all part of living in the dorm—an important segment of life at Bryan. Student assistants provided help, discipline, and mediation between students and deans. Each floor elected dorm council representatives to supply dorm necessities and to deal with problems and rules.

Day Students Gain Leadership Positions

Day students brought the unique perspective and problems of off-campus living to the attention of the student body through their increased participation in college activities. In unprecedented numbers they served on Student Senate, Academic Council, Commoner staff, athletic teams, and musical groups.

Commoner 1973 co-editors Richard Daugherty and John Mercer led double lives as English majors by day and journalistic hermits by night in their attempt to capture the events of the year as accurately and artistically as possible. Although plagued by inexperience, staff resignations, poor working conditions, and a tight budget, the yearbook staff was cheerfully aided by Mr. Bill Stoess, Delmar representative, and by Mrs. Louise Bentley and Mr. Wayne Hook, faculty advisers.

Senate Handles Faculty Evaluations

President Larry Puckett led the Student Senate in a year of added responsibilities and dedication to better representation of student opinion. Opening-of-school duties of welcoming new students and assisting with the President's Reception went smoothly under secretary Roz Fitzenreider's tireless co-ordination. Senate members also led games at the all-college picnic, took charge of homecoming elections, and ushered at the candlelight Christmas service. Attempting to make faculty evaluations more valid, the senate constructed a survey form, administered the evaluations, and tabulated the results.

Jay Adams Speaks at Faculty Retreat

Administration, faculty, and interested staff members began the year with a spiritual retreat at former trustee Harry Johnson's cabin on tranquil Watts Bar Lake. The guest speaker for the two days of inspiration was Dr. Jay Adams, author of Competent to Counsel, whose informal lectures centered around the thesis that every Christian should be able to use the Bible as a basis for counseling.

Semester Begins With Spiritual Emphasis

The Spiritual Life Conference during the first week of school provided the boost many students needed to set their priorities for the new year. Dr. Stanley Toussaint, pastor of eleven Bryan students from the Immanuel Baptist Church in Richmond, Virginia, stressed the need for communicating God's love to others.

Oliver Speaks on Day of Prayer

Frequent downpours of rain and the excitement of election day provided the background for the fall day of prayer. Rev. John Oliver, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Augusta, Georgia, presented meditations on Hebrews in joint chapel services. Morning prayer groups headed by class presidents, afternoon interest-group prayer meetings, and an evening testimony and communion service completed the day's inspiration.

UPPER: The sophomore class breaks up into prayer groups before lunch. LOWER: Dr. Greasby, song leader for the day, chats with Mr. Oliver after the morning session.

Guests Speak in Chapel

Striving to provide contemporary, worthwhile, and edifying chapels, the chapel committee booked area pastors, professional singers, and such well-known Christian workers as Jack Wyrzten. Some academic divisions presented programs which served to intergrate Christianity with relevant issues. Daily music in devotional chapels featured student song leaders, accompanists, and singing groups.

Campus Crusade Directs Christian Life Conference

To produce fruit in the individual Christian and in the world was the goal of MIA's second annual Christian Life Conference. The demanding three-day schedule called for mass meetings featuring Dr. James Engel and Mr. James Offutt, seminars and buzz groups led by Campus Crusade staff, and witnessing in the community. Through these experiences students reassessed their own lives in preparation for second semester.

Missions in Action Continues SMP

Directed by president Jim Fitzgerald, the newly-organized Missions in Action presented several joint chapels, sponsored the Christian Life Conference, and opened a booktable of current Christian literature. After the experienced participants of the 1972 Summer Missions Program reported to the student body in the fall, selection and fund-raising prayerfully began for this year's SMP'ers.

FISH Enters Second Year

In its second year as MIA's program of applied Christianity, FISH gave Bryan students an opportunity to provide services to the local community. Saturday morning recreation and Bible study provided a focal point for the twenty-six big-brother/big-sister relationships which students formed with underprivileged and mentally retarded children. The "buy-a-meal" program gave the rest of the student body a chance to help the little brothers and sisters. Tutoring, doing yard work, housecleaning, providing transportation, baby-sitting, and painting occupied other FISH volunteers. Students involved in second semester's Operation Sunshine sent notes to the bereaved, the sick, and those celebrating birthdays in the local community.

CSA Expands Program

The Christian Service Association expanded its program to provide more opportunities to put faith into action. Students enthusiastically taught Bible to children in the public schools; brightened the lives of those in the local jail, hospital, and housing development; witnessed in area churches; and worked with the Pacific Garden Mission in Chicago during spring break. Co-sponsorship of the MIA booktable was another evidence of CSA's growing involvement in practical Christianity.

LOWER MIDDLE: Jim Bailie teaches his class of fifth and sixth graders. LOWER RIGHT: Girls in a CSA class reverently bow in prayer.

Local Churches Provide Service Opportunities

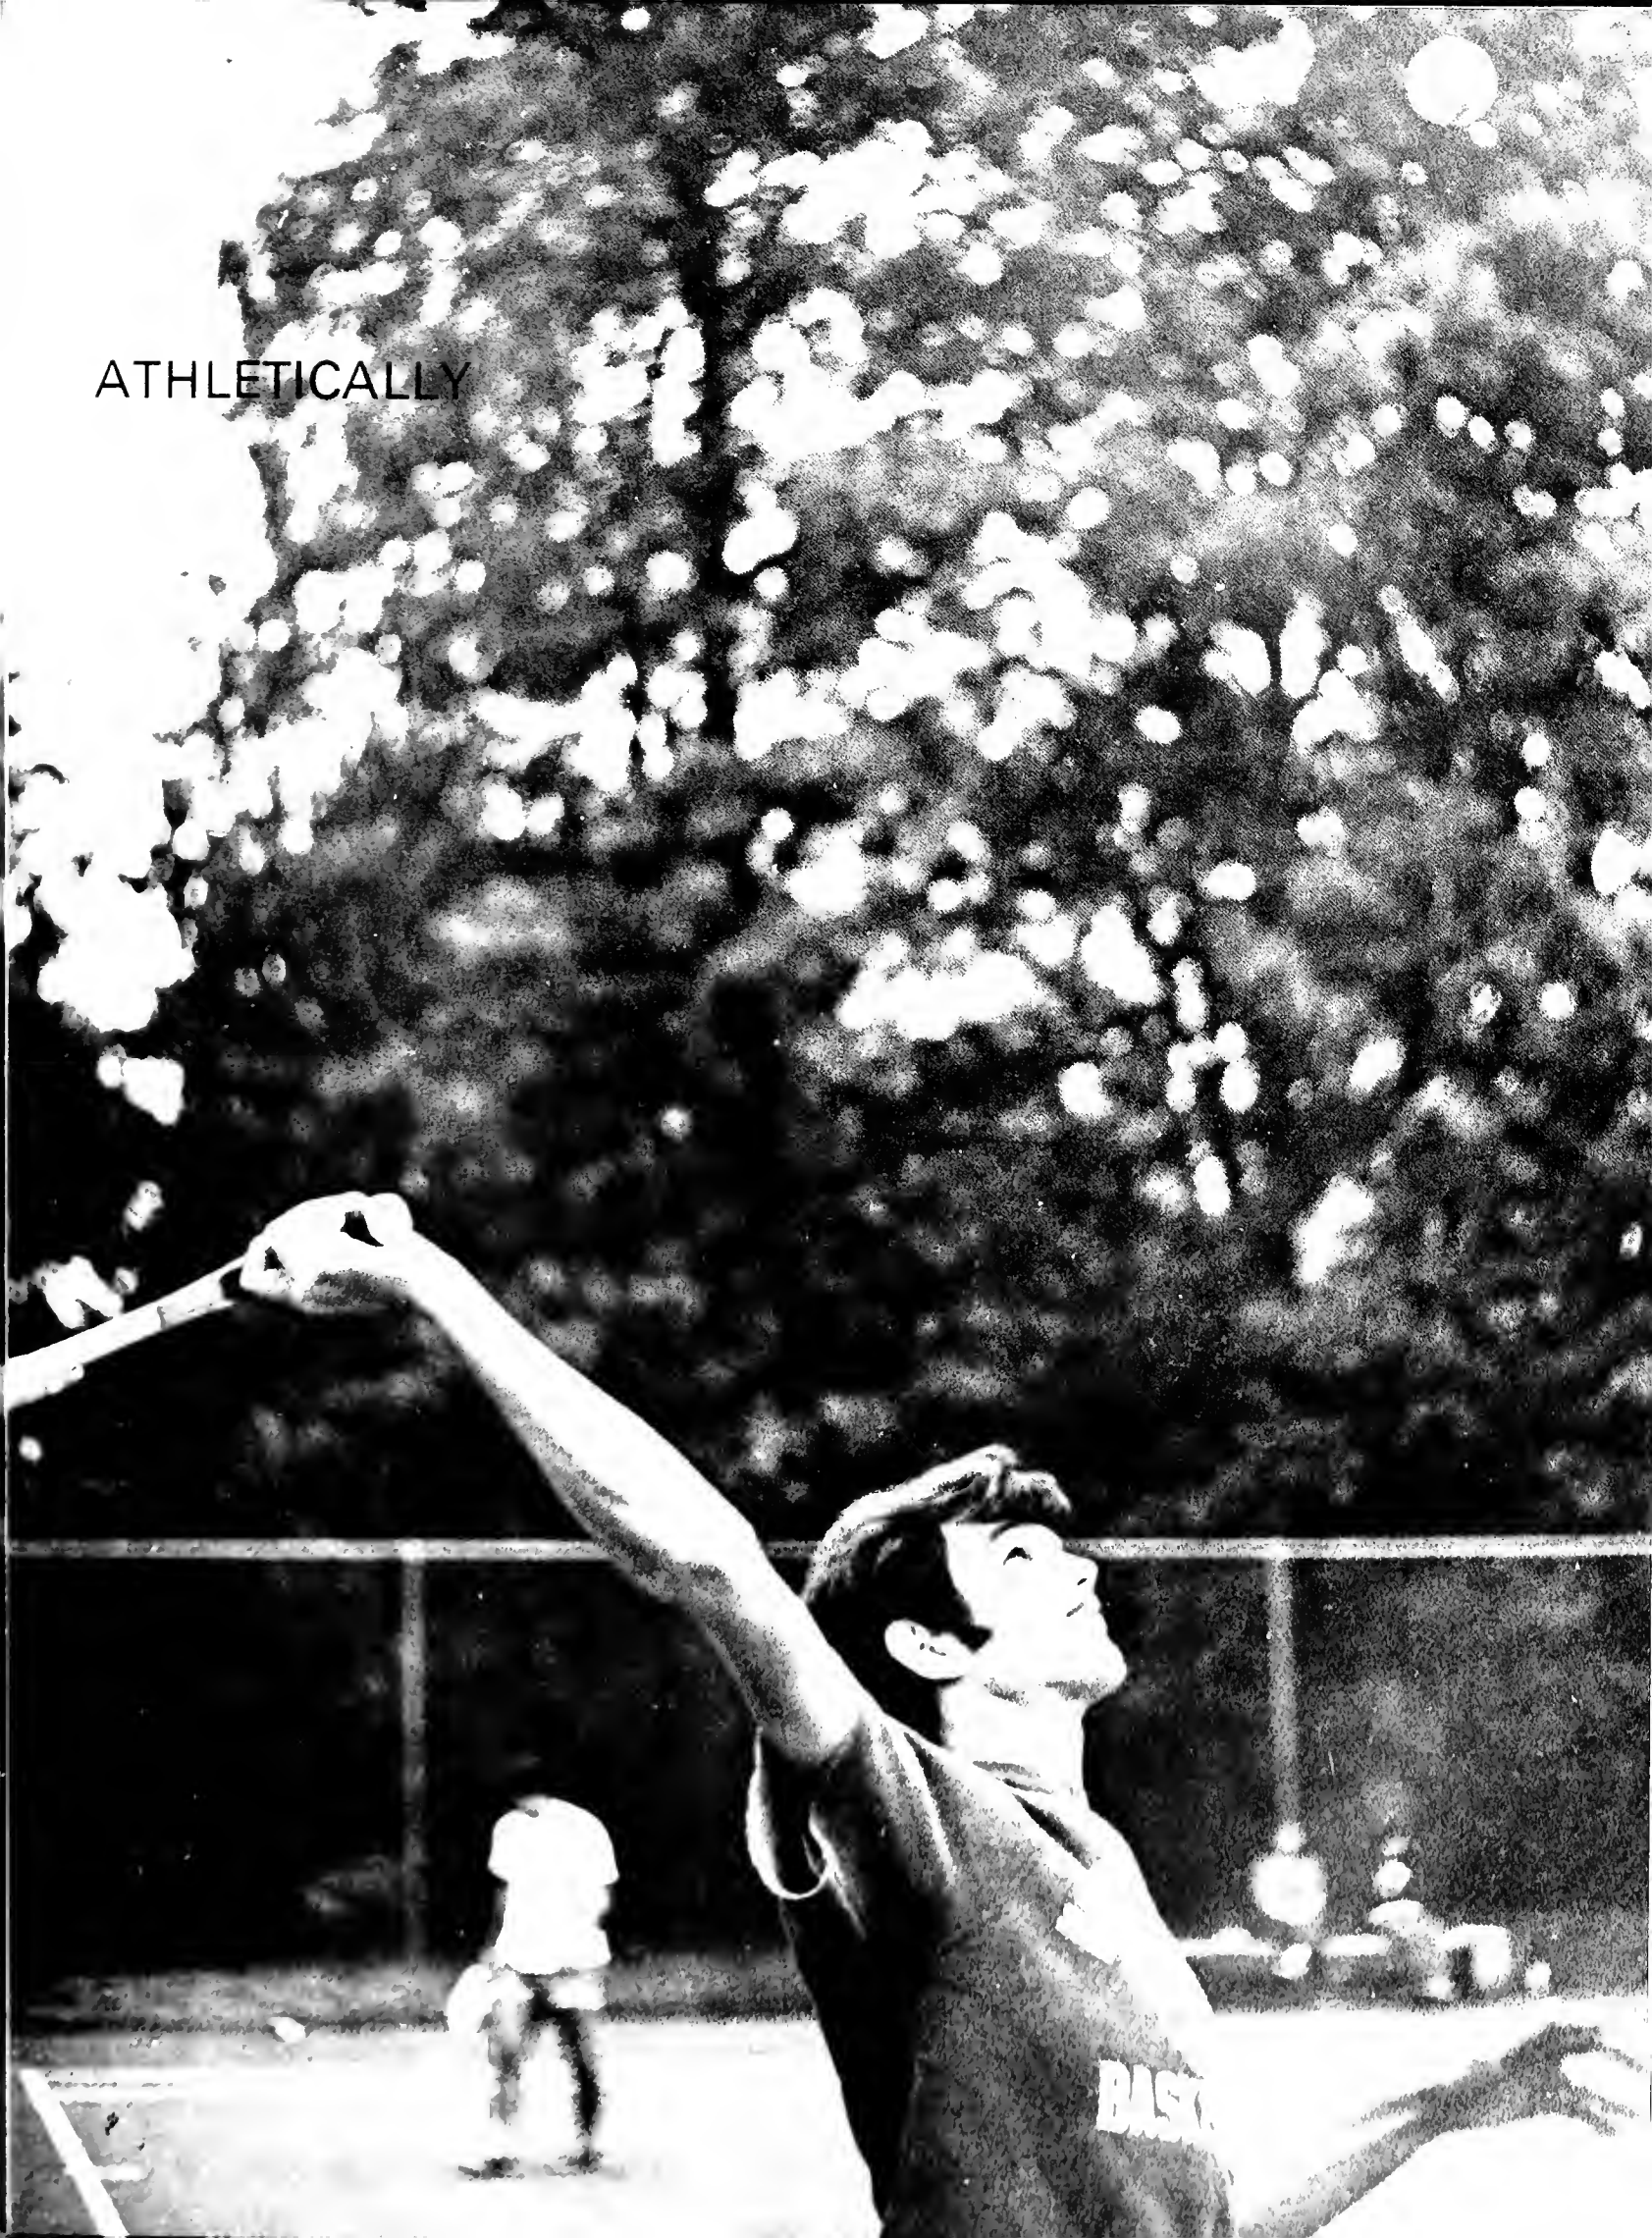

Reaching out to find a place of service and fellowship, many students took an active part in the programs of local churches. As pastors, Sunday school teachers, song leaders, choir members, and instrumentalists, they enriched their own spiritual lives as well as those of the churches they served.

Reeser Becomes New Coach

The determination of freshmen, the experience of returning lettermen, and the drive of new head coach John Reeser helped produce Bryan's best soccer season in four years. Although many players were new to the game, they submitted to a gruelling practice schedule in preparation for their demanding season.

Soccer Team Has Good Season

The soccer season began on a note of optimism with the Lions' three-to-one victory over Toccoa Falls, followed by a long string of injuries, which accounted for some subsequent losses. Their third-place finish in the Sewanee tournament in November and final season record of 4-5-1 were a tribute to the efforts of the hard-working team and coaches. The team selected seniors Ray Locy and Everett Kier as most valuable players and freshman Chuck Grant as most improved.

Cross-Country Has Record Season

Breaking all previous records at Bryan, this year's cross-country team was the best ever, according to Coach Jake Matthes. Running in some impressive meets, the dedicated team took third place in the state and second in the NAIA district where Bryan had never before placed. Team stand-out Dave Wolfe streaked to first in the state, third in the district, and ninetieth out of four hundred in the national meet at Kansas City.

Cheerleaders Spark Enthusiasm

Cheerleader captain Nancy Bugg and her inexperienced but determined squad yelled, jumped, and smiled through the long soccer and basketball seasons to encourage the teams and spark student enthusiasm. Their hard work on special projects paid off in new uniforms and transportation to away games.

Tubbs Coaches Girls' Basketball

Coach Jeff Tubbs began practicing with the girls' basketball team in October. Proceeds from their hilarious exhibition victory over the WFLI disc jockeys helped the girls buy new uniforms. After losing their first two games of the regular season, the Lionettes showed steady improvement.

Lions Plan Trip to West Indies

Head basketball coach Wayne Dixon began fall practice with optimistic hopes based on improved size, rebounding power, and shooting ability. The team charged admission to pre-season games and sponsored pizza parties to raise money for their summer tour of the West Indies, where they played exhibition games and held instructive clinics.

Basketball Season Is Disappointing

A hard-fought home victory over the University of the South was a bright spot in the Lions' generally disappointing season. Suffering from an exhausting schedule, multiple injuries, and lack of close-range scoring, the team was unable to win the important games. Rick Burroughs, however, was among the leading rebounders of the SCAC, and Woody Duncan continued as a top conference scorer.

Spring Brings Baseball Games

The 1973 baseball team began organizing in January with the spirited leadership of Coaches Dixon and Reeser. Valuable returning players, promising freshmen, increased pitching depth, and an improved defensive infield helped generate the team's vigor and optimism.

UPPER: Stan Roberts keeps his eye on the ball.

Track Team Defends Title

The track season began with stiff challenges at three indoor meets, including the TIAC state meet in Murfreesboro. Outdoor competition began in April when Coach Matthes' athletes defended their title at the Union Invitational and entered the State Championship at Austin Peay.

Intramurals Stimulate Class Rivalry

Directed by Dan Hobbs, the intramural program provided class competition in men's volleyball, football, and basketball and in women's volleyball. Individuals battled in pool, chess, ping-pong, and free-throw tournaments.

European Tour Enjoys Continued Success

London, Venice, Lucerne, and Paris became realities to the twenty-nine members of the second annual study-travel tour of Europe. Their exciting three weeks during the summer of 1972 featured guided visits to seven countries, first-class accommodations, and instruction in fine arts from tour director Dr. John Bartlett. Promotion for this summer's excursion, to include Scotland and Rome, began early in the year. A ten-day tour of the Holy Land during spring break provided further opportunities for travel abroad.

UPPER: Tour members find Notre Dame Cathedral to be a highlight of their exciting visit to Paris. LOWER LEFT: One of many unusual attractions in Italy is the Leaning Tower of Pisa. LOWER RIGHT: Miss Seguine, member of the '72 group and tour hostess for '73, cheerfully submits to arrest for the March of Dimes.

Concert Series Brings Artists to Campus

Local businesses and civic groups as well as the Tennessee Arts Commission generously co-operated with the college in sponsoring the Rhea County Concert Series. Music majors and fine arts students were among those who enjoyed the artistry of Ellsworth Snyder, pianist; Ron Hudson, classical guitarist; and Joan Wittman and Carolyn Bloom, vocalists. A special appearance by the Chattanooga Symphony featured the brilliant solo violinist Regis Pasquier.

Choir Tours Florida

The sixty-seven talented members of the college choir worked hard to attain the standard of excellence set by their director, Dr. James Greasby. Their co-operation with the Choralaires and Chattanooga Symphony resulted in a moving rendition of Handel's Messiah; Brahms' German Requiem was the choir's major work for the second semester. Fund-raising projects preceded the choir's exhausting but very profitable spring tour of Georgia and Florida.

Madrigals Maintain Prestige

The sixteen Madrigals kept their reputation as the most prestigious singing group on campus with their sparkling performances of sacred and secular music of the sixteenth and twentieth centuries. Their appearances at high school assemblies and their March of Dimes benefit were especially effective in student recruitment and public relations for the school.

Choralaires Sing in Community

The Choralaires performed many kinds of music for audiences on campus, in local churches, and in civic clubs. Mrs. Ruth Bartlett directed this women's singing group as they endeavored to acquaint the community with the college.

Band Keeps Busy Calendar

Striving to be both educational and enjoyable, Mr. William Boyd's symphonic band mastered a repertoire of popular, classical, and sacred compositions. Performances at local high schools, Bryan's Christian Life Conference, and the annual spring concert were major events in the band's busy calendar.

Recitals Build Confidence

To give students opportunities to perform and to enjoy others' performances, the music department presented a variety of recitals during the year. Students of voice, piano, organ, and other instruments participated in the trauma of monthly general recitals; and nine music majors gave individual recitals in partial fulfillment of degree requirements.

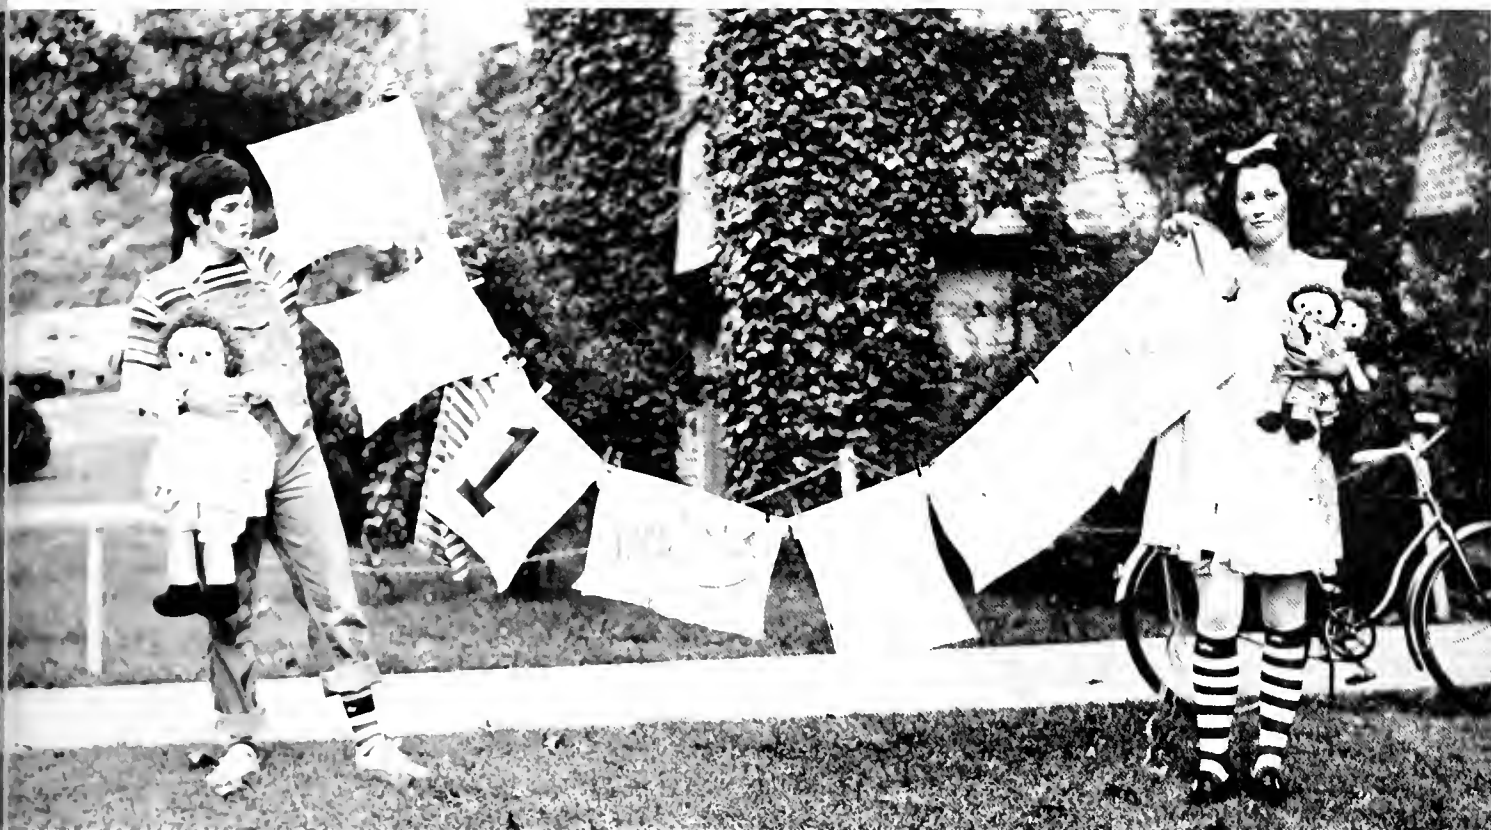

UPPER: John Peterson and his trombone instructor, Mr. Boyd, receive the audience's applause at John's senior recital.

Drama Club Gains Momentum

During first semester the Drama Club presented promotional skits during meals and held monthly meetings. Their play satirizing misconceptions of the Christian life in January, three one-act plays in February, and climatic performance of The Curious Savage in April were all under the direction of Miss Rachel Ross.

Sidewalk Day Held in April

Bryan's annual Fine Arts Festival took the unique form of a Sidewalk Day in April. The melodies of bands and singing groups rang through the streets of Dayton, paintings dotted the courthouse square, and other art displays brightened merchants' windows. The Drama Club's presentation of The Curious Savage climaxed the aesthetic enjoyment of the weekend for the community and the college.

Who's Who Honors Eleven Seniors

Selected by the faculty for their scholarship, citizenship, leadership, and future potential, eleven seniors gained recognition in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. Receiving this national honor were Karen Brodsky, Janice Decker, Rozlind Fitzenreider, Annette Henderson, Everett Kier, Ray Locy, John Peterson, Larry Puckett, Rick Speece, Glen Tallent, and David Wolfe.

Seniors Anticipate Graduation

Class president Everett Kier led the 103 seniors in planning their trip to Disney World and choosing a memorable class gift to leave the school. Student teaching, job applications, and wedding plans dominated their thinking as they helped plan the commencement exercises.

Underclassmen Pull Together

United by the common goal of eventually becoming seniors, underclassmen worked together as classes. Largest in the history of Bryan with its 157 members, the freshman class cast aside their beanies to pull together for their successful talent show. Sophomores took on the Thanksgiving Banquet as their special project. Bolstered by incoming transfer students, the junior class faced the enormous task of planning the time-honored, money-consuming Junior-Senior Banquet.

New Students Enroll Second Semester

The twenty-seven students who enrolled second semester helped to replace those not returning after Christmas. Quickly assimilated into campus activities, these new students became a vital part of the college community.

College Mourns Deaths of Three

The college community remembered three who died during 1972. These were Mr. Robert Sheddan, director of administrative services since 1964; Scott Davis, freshman in the Class of '75; and Mr. R. L. Bryan of Bartow, Florida, member of the Board of Trustees since 1952. Those who knew these three men missed them greatly but rejoiced in their lives of faith and dedication in their present state of glory.

Perspective: Reaching Out '73

The year slipped away from us; suddenly it was over. The excitement, the boredom, the laughter, the tears all became memories. We found that often the ordinary was impressed upon us more deeply than the historic; new friendships transcended ground-floor renovations and visitation committees. We were forced to evaluate our own progress — what we had gained by our reaching out. Some of us cared more, worked harder, reached farther than others. We realized that our academic, social, athletic, and cultural growth hinged on our spiritual lives, our relationship with God through Jesus Christ. He gave us a reason for reaching.

TODAY

Today is ours — let's live it.
And love is strong — let's give it.
A song can help — let's sing it.
And peace is dear — let's bring it.

The past is gone — don't rue it.
Our work is here — let's do it.
The world is wrong — let's right it.
If evil comes — let's fight it.

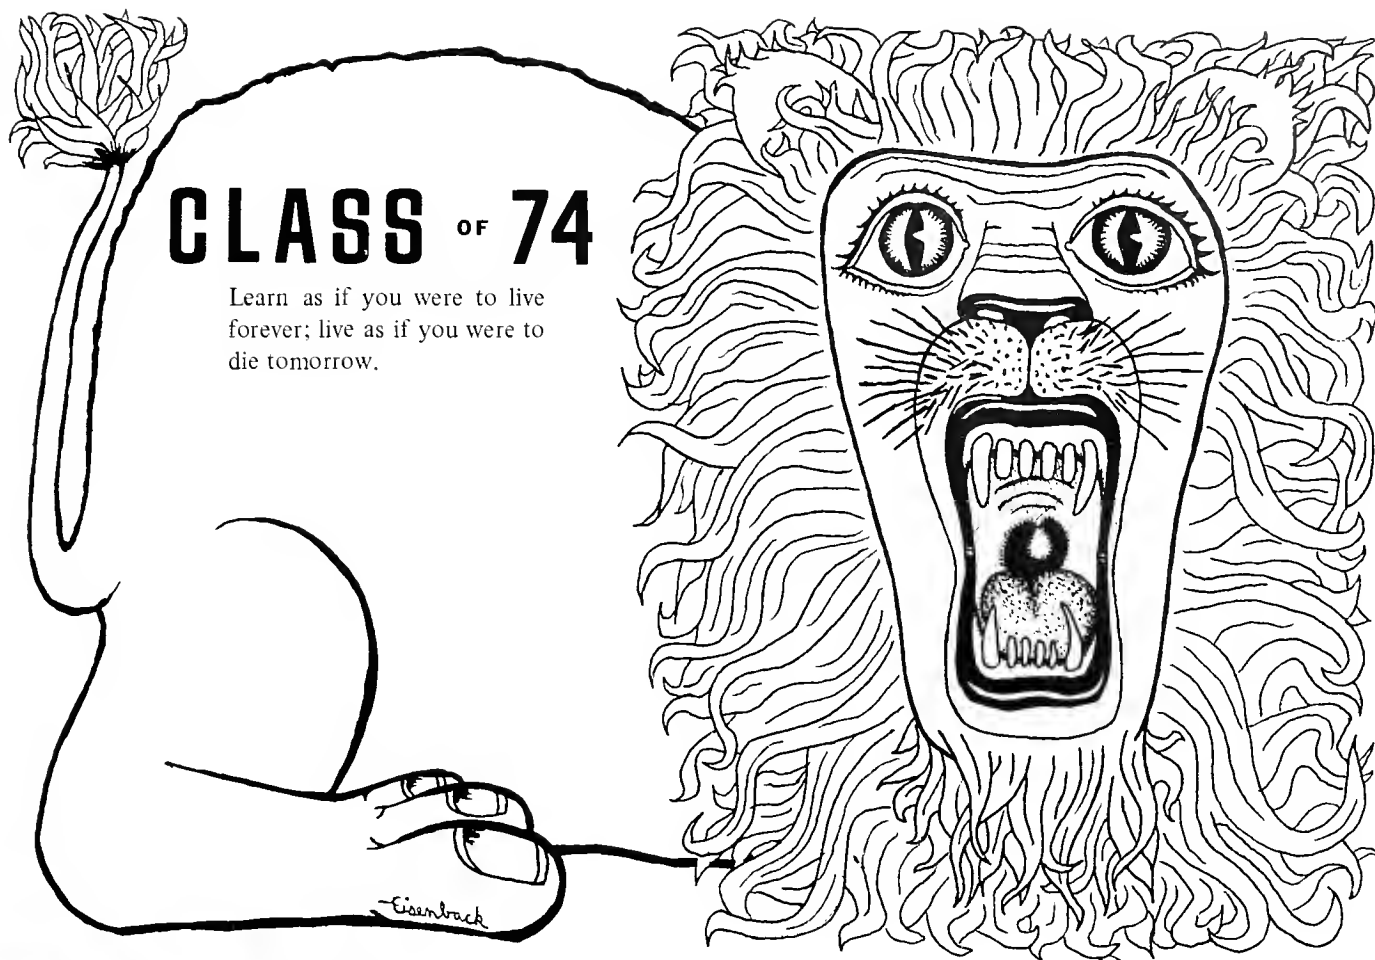

The road is rough — let's clear it.
The future vast — don't fear it.
Is faith asleep? — let's wake it.
Today is free — let's take it.

—Lydia L. Roberts

Yes, we'll take it!

Learn as if you were to live forever; live as if you were to die tomorrow.

Eisenbach

Time never takes time off. As it rolls on its deliberate way it affects our senses and does strange things to our minds. The days came and went, one after another, and they introduced me to other hopes and fresh memories.

— Augustine

Specifications

Commoner 1973 was lithographed by Delmar Printing Company of Charlotte, North Carolina. The cover picture is a lithographed halftone with black ink on willow green Roxite. The first sixteen pages were printed on eighty-pound Saxony Embossed paper with the remainder of the book printed on Warren's Contemporary Matte Finish stock. The amber gold endsheets are sixty-five-pound Vellum Bristol paper. Color pictures were printed from individually hand-separated transparencies in four-process color. Headline type is 24 point Univers Medium; all other type is Optima Medium — 14 point for the first sixteen pages, 12 point for body copy, and 8 point for identifications. Senior and underclassman portraits were by Delmar Studios of Charlotte. Press run was 550 copies.
